

Tattoo

Alec: Celebrities have a new war to wage for their privacy. It seems several clips ave been placed online of famous actors and musicians using the restroom. We'll have more on that in just a moment, but first: A Syracuse University professor has caused quite a stir for tattooing a racially explicit word on his arm. We'll go now to David Fisher who's reporting live from Syracuse campus. David:

David: Thanks, Alec. The students and faculty here at SU were shocked recently when, Jake Anderson, a respected business professor, came to class with a vulgar, racially explicit word tattooed on his right forearm. Consequently, Mr. Anderson's employment at SU was terminated this morning after the dean received hundreds of complaints regarding the professor.

Alec: Now, David, what was the word that Professor Anderson tattooed on his arm?

David: That would be the N-word, Alec. And I might add, the issue here is not as simple as a professor having a vulgar tattoo but, rather, the placement of that tattoo and Professor Anderson's compulsion to exhibit it.

Alec: And by 'exhibit it' you mean to display it on campus?

Continued in The Collection: Volume One

---